Stay Local While You Learn in Teesside

If you are travelling to Medipro for training, Teesside offers a practical base with good road links, rail access, nearby accommodation and plenty to do after your course day ends.

Our centre at TS18 3TT is well placed for visitors travelling from across the North East and beyond. We are close to both the A66 and A19, making the venue easy to reach by car. For rail travellers, Eaglescliffe Station is a useful nearby option, and Preston Park is around a 12-minute walk from the station, which also gives learners a good reference point for the area. National Rail lists Eaglescliffe as having parking, cycle storage, ticket facilities and partial step-free access.

Why stay locally?

Many of our learners choose to stay nearby so they can arrive relaxed, avoid a long commute and make the most of the local area in the evening.

The benefit is simple.

easy access to the training centre

good transport

Things to do in Yarm High Street

Yarm High Street is one of the most attractive places nearby for learners staying overnight. Visit Tees Valley describes it as a bustling high street filled with independent shops, restaurants, cafés and bars, and notes that it won the 2020 Rising Star award in the Great British High Street awards. It is a good option if you want somewhere with character rather than a standard retail park or chain-only setting.

What makes Yarm a good evening destination?

You can stroll the High Street after class.

There is a strong choice of independent food and drink venues.

The setting is relaxed and walkable.

It works equally well for a quiet coffee, an evening meal or a more social night out.

MUSE

Muse describes itself as a continental café on Yarm High Street serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, with a licensed pavement café that works well in warmer months. This is a good recommendation for learners who want something relaxed and central.

Recommended places to eat in and around Yarm

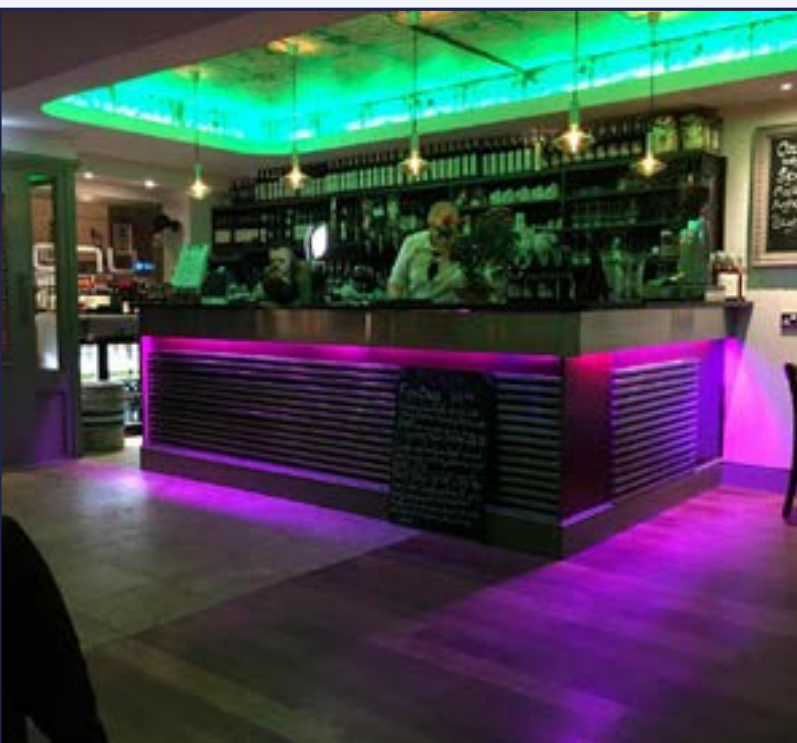

Tomahawk Steakhouse

Tomahawk positions itself as a specialist steak restaurant and cocktail bar on Yarm High Street, known for dry-aged beef as well as fish, meat and vegetarian dishes. A strong option for an evening meal after training.

Uno Ristorante

Uno is a family-run Italian restaurant on Yarm High Street, promoting Italian food, wines and happy hour deals. Good for groups and informal evening dining.

Recommended places to eat in and around Yarm

The Pot & Glass / Pot & Wok, Egglescliffe

Just outside central Yarm, this historic pub offers authentic Thai food in a village setting. It is dog-friendly and presents itself as a community hub, so it works well for learners who want something with more character than a chain venue.

The Blue Bell

Located on the edge of Yarm by the River Tees, The Blue Bell highlights its riverside setting, character building and beer garden. This is a good local choice for a more traditional pub meal or relaxed evening drink.

Local attractions and amenities

Preston Park Museum and Grounds

Very close to our centre, Preston Park is one of the best nearby places to spend free time. Stockton Council describes it as a family day out, while the museum site promotes parkland, events, food and drink, and museum access. It is ideal for a walk, some fresh air or a visit before heading home.

Tees Barrage

If learners want something more active, Tees Barrage offers watersports, rafting, paddleboarding, cycling and other outdoor activities. The centre describes itself as a year-round visitor destination with activities for a wide range of ages and abilities.

Shopping and cafés in Yarm

Yarm is not only about restaurants. Visit Tees Valley highlights boutiques and independents including Strickland & Holt, while local venue listings also point to deli and café options. That makes it a good area for a slower afternoon or evening rather than just a quick meal stop.

Travel and Access

Reaching us by road is simple thanks to our position close to the A66 and A19.

For rail users, Eaglescliffe is the most practical nearby station. National Rail confirms facilities including ticket office services, parking and cycle storage, with partial step-free access. Preston Park's official visitor information also notes that the park is about 12 minutes on foot from Eaglescliffe Station, which helps orientate visitors in the area.

For those staying at Sporting Lodge Inn, our centre is a 5 to 10 minute drive away, with free parking at both the hotel and Faraday House. Taxis are readily available if you are travelling without a car, and the hotel is well placed for the A19 and A174.
